Tropical Storm Isaias #2

3-August-2020 10:00 Hours

As Tropical Storm Isaias makes its way up the East Coast, Pamlico County is continuing to prepare for impacts associated with the storm. A State of Emergency has been declared as of August 2nd, 2020 and will remain in effect until the storm has subsided. At this time, we will not be issuing any local Voluntary or Mandatory Evacuation Orders and the Control Group has decided and agreed that there will not be a shelter opening. Our staff is prepared to perform the above functions in the event the predictions change and situations dictate. Pamlico County is expected to see increased winds and moderate rainfall tonight through Tuesday during the day. Storm Surge models are consistently showing a MAX surge for low lying coastal areas of 2-4ft above normal levels. We encourage all residents to make their preparations now for this overnight event and stay tuned to local media sources. Response Resources stand ready to face any issues that may arise from Tropical Storm Isaias.
